Institutional Review Board

Statement of Financial Disclosures by Investigator

Sinai Health System’s Institutional Review Board requires all researchers/investigators to acknowledge any financial involvement or interest in the organization (corporation) sponsoring the research. As indicated in the IRB guidelines and procedures, the IRB does not endorse financial benefit of the investigator through involvement in research protocol at Sinai Health nor does the IRB condone misrepresentation of results, intended or unintended. For purposes of review, the IRB defines financial benefit as an equity position in the sponsoring organization (corporation) resulting in the ability to influence decisions and/or financially benefit from the research, prior to or following FDA approval.
