

Sinai Children's Hospital

Where every child counts

From specialty care to emergency services, Sinai Children's Hospital offers high quality care – and caring – close to home. At Sinai Children's Hospital, every child counts.

Inpatient and Outpatient

As a teaching hospital with a pediatric residency program, Sinai is on the leading edge of medical science and training. Our team approach gives children and their families the opportunity to have a full range of care in inpatient and outpatient settings.

Since 2003, Sinai Children's Hospital has offered family-focused care. As part of Mount Sinai Hospital, our Emergency Department is a designated Level I Pediatric Trauma Center and is Emergency Department Approved for Pediatrics. Our staff is specially trained to handle pediatric emergencies because children's medical needs are different than adults.

Team Approach

Sinai Children's Hospital brings together a multi-disciplinary pediatric program that provides a continuum of care, including community health education to a Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit and Pediatric Intensive Care Unit. Our team includes physicians, nurse practitioners, nurses, psychologists, social workers, health educators and dietitians.

Our child life specialist works with patients, their families and others involved in their care to help manage stress and understand medical and various procedures.
